> ABOUT

Measuring 44.5m, her light and bright interiors house five luxurious cabins. Able to accommodate ten guests, she can also house a crew of nine. The master suite is ideally located on the main deck, offering panoramic views on the surrounding seas and a fold out balcony. The private gym, accessible only from the owner's suite is just above on the upper deck forward-facing. The owner's private terrasse offers an on-deck spa as well as a lounge. On the sundeck, you will find plenty of lounging as well as an alfresco area. The beach club folds out on each side, truly connecting the owner to the water.

The yacht's exterior and interior designs have been entrusted to Zuccon International Project, a Sanlorenzo partner with the new SX crossover line and relaunched SD line. The yacht is characterised by clean, sporty lines with distinctive cutouts in the bulwarks to provide unlimited sea views from the main deck and a sky lounge on the upper deck. The aft side of the hull will open to a lateral tender garage featuring a 7m tender.

An interesting feature is a mezzanine loft set-up in the master cabin which spans over three levels and covers an extensive area of 147 sqm, a solution that has never been introduced in a yacht of this size, according to Antonio Santella, Vice-president of Sales and Marketing at Sanlorenzo's Superyacht Division.

As usual with Sanlorenzo's bespoke and tailor made customer approach, the yacht offers an extensive number of possible layouts and configurations and the shipyard is ready to materialise any possible owners' requests.

The two first Alloy yachts to Asia were sold by Simpson Marine have been delivered to their owners in 2021 and are currently cruising around Asia.
